

Reconciliation in Parliament Series

Tranby: A Success Story in Education and Reconciliation

This Forum will explore the reasons for the success of Tranby in education and reconciliation and talk about the current issues and challenges the organisation faces.

The 'Reconciliation in Parliament' series provides an opportunity for Parliamentarians from all sides of politics and the public to hear directly from Aboriginal people on key issues affecting them.

Tranby is a successful Aboriginal Co-operative College that has been independently operating as an adult educational institution for Indigenous and non-Indigenous people for over 50 years. Despite its success, Tranby has recently lost a large amount of financial support from the government. This Forum provides Tranby with the ability to showcase their successes and highlight why government should be supporting Aboriginal organisations such as Tranby to achieve better social outcomes for Indigenous people and to progress reconciliation for Australia at large.

Speakers:

Local Aboriginal Elder
Lindon Coombs
Tranby Student

Metro Aboriginal Land Council (Welcome to Country)
Executive Director Tranby Aboriginal Co-operative College
A current student of Tranby Aboriginal Co-operative College

Event Details:

What: Forum - Tranby: A Success Story in Education and Reconciliation
Where: Theatrette, Parliament House, Macquarie St, Sydney 2000
When: 6:30pm-7:30pm, Wednesday 11 November 2009
Cost: Free
RSVP: info@nswreconciliation.org.au or (02) 9562 6355
For more info: www.nswreconciliation.org.au/events

This event is organised by NSW Reconciliation Council on behalf of a coalition of community organisations (ANTaR NSW, Myall Creek, and ReconciliACTION), and with assistance of members of the NSW Parliament.